First and foremost I wanna tell the family of mr. Randy I am terribly sorry for there loss and my prayers and my blessings are with them!!!

To those of y'all who never got the chance to meet this man they are 3 words I would use to describe him #1 leader #2 strong-headed #3 confident,I say this coming from a work environment were I got the privilege to not only have him as my boss but also as a leader and teacher for almost 10 years at Suwannee lumber, when I started at this mill I didn't know the first thing about sawmilling,but I can tell you this they were 1 thing that me and Mr. Randy had in common we liked being the best and #1 with this mindset we reached numbers at the sawmill that will prob never be seen again his constant encouragement of bringing the attitude to the sawmill of being a leader eventually led me to being a supervisor over the log line, he had a tough exterior but to anyone who got the chance to get to know Randy they knew on the interior of him was a heart of gold, they were many times he kept me my job when he was told by upper management to fire me, I can hear him till this day I'm not gonna do such a thing he shows up to work,he works hard and doesn't miss work ,he's hot headed so you talk to him how you think you should want to be talked too!!

On the day of his viewing I didn't get to make it , I worked a short day that day and got off work and was hunting with daddy that afternoon and he was gonna drop me back off in town at my truck we're I had everything to get ready, well to those of y'all who know anything about me I'm crazy about hunting and Mr. Randy sold me a remington model 7600 pump .243 rifle 8 years ago for 200 dollars, well as most people do I gave that gun a nickname and called it ol Randy up until this day I had killed every deer I had ever shot with it, as we pulled up to the hunting club I told daddy as I grabbed my gun maybe ol Randy will bring me some luck today, I walked to the stand pulled my SD card the 9 point I had been hunting had only been there at night, I text my other half jasmine and telling her he had only been there at night but you can't ever tell when he might show up and when I hit send I look to my left and see his horns in the broomsage , I brace up as he moves left and he spooked back for some reason to where I originally see him I think I have a opening to shoot through I pull the trigger and watch him jump off , it was one of those moments where I told myself I missed but then I heard a crash noise this gave me a glimmer of hope I look and don't find nothing so I call my friend kameron with a blood tracking dog he gets there and we come to the conclusion I hit a limb or something and my ball busted, either way isn't it odd ive hunted this deer all year he has been gone since before bowseason pretty much,he shows back up on the day that Mr. Randy passed, I'm shooting the rifle he sold me and he shows up on the day of the viewing , if that isn't from a sign above I don't know what is!!!

Till we meet again boss man, I know your up there now with the sawmill gods telling them this is how it needs to be done!!!
