

Doris Scofield Richardson

April 21, 1930 - October 23, 2018

Dr. Doris Scofield Richardson of High Springs, Florida passed away on October 23, 2018.

She was born to Hilliard Parker and Annie Pearl Gaines Scofield on April 21, 1930, in Opp, Alabama. Her family moved to High Springs, Florida in 1940 where she resided until her passing. She graduated from High Springs High School in 1948 where she was Valedictorian of her senior class. After graduating from high school, she attended the University of Florida and in 1952 received her Bachelor's Degree in Education and in 1961 received her Master's Degree in Education. She received her Ed. D in Educational Leadership from Nova Southeastern University in 1975.

Dr. Richardson devoted much of her life to public education having worked for Alachua County Public Schools for 56 years before retiring in 2008. She taught first grade at High Springs Elementary School before being appointed the school's first female principal in 1975. As a first grade teacher, she was Teacher of the Year in 1968. She also served as principal of M.K. Rawlings Elementary School in Gainesville, Florida from 1983-1988 and Hidden Oak Elementary School in Gainesville, Florida from 1988-2008. Dr. Richardson was an adjunct professor for both Nova Southeastern University and the University of Florida. In 2000, she was one of a group selected as Women Who Made a Difference in the History of High Springs.

She married the love of her life, James A. Richardson, in 1950. They were married 49 years before he passed away in 1999. Together they raised two children, James Jr. and Doris Ann. They enjoyed traveling and spending time with family.

Doris was a member of the High Springs New Century Woman's Club. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church of High Springs where she taught Sunday School and sang in the choir for many years.

She is survived by her brother, James Hilliard Scofield and wife Betty of Trenton, Florida, son, James A. Richardson, Jr. and wife Janie of Lake City, Florida, daughter, Doris Ann Imler and husband Gary of High Springs, Florida, grandchildren Jennifer Imler and husband Kevin Maher, of Charlotte, North Carolina, Dory Young and husband Thomas of High Springs, Florida, Tony Robinson of Lake City, Florida, Matthew Richardson and wife Andrea of Gainesville, Florida, great grandchildren Mason Maher of Charlotte, North Carolina, Gavin Rarey, Reece Rarey and Kendel Young of High Springs, Florida.

“ Dr. Richardson was truly the face of Hidden Oak Elementary School. I always enjoyed my interaction with her for all the school events I participated in. She had a smile for everyone, words of encouragement and I believe always had the best interest of the students at heart. It was such a precious memory to think she shared in our daughter's wedding day far beyond the years at Hidden Oak. Such a great lady, may she rest in peace.

Our deepest sympathy to the family.

“ Dr. Richardson was elegant, professional and caring. She was a great mentor and an excellent principal, loved by the children, including mine. Dr. Richardson encouraged me to get a masters of education and provided my first professional opportunity. She graciously allowed her school's auditorium to be used for Celebration of Education sponsored by the Baha'is. The world and Gainesville were lucky to have had her. Barbara Herbert
