“ It is now January, 2019. This is the year that I will graduate college and L.J. will graduate high school. I am looking forward to every part of it, except the fact you will not be sitting in the crowd as we walk across the stage. So happy to know that you will be walking with me, in my heart, where you will always be completely and fully alive and happy beyond words. I love you. I miss you Nana.
